

Mushrooms

The mushroom is a mysterious, delightful little plant. It is a decomposer...a plant that breaks larger things up into smaller parts that can be reused. Without decomposers dead things would be piled so high there would be no room to live. They reproduce by shooting spores into the air...to land who knows where.

Mushrooms are 90% water and small compared to the giant plants around them. Many mushrooms are brilliantly colored and some are poisonous.

God designed every living thing with a job to do in His wonderful world. He decided to dress some of them up in beautiful clothing...for us to admire.

“For since the creation of the world God’s invisible qualities— his eternal power and divine nature— have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that men are without excuse.”

(Romans 1:20)
